

Agudath Israel's New Jersey Office Secures Funding for Parenting Workshops

One of the highlights of the year for the parent body of a large elementary school in New Jersey is the yearly parenting workshops provided by the school. In years past, the school was able to afford these workshops through funds provided by the state. This year, just days before the workshop was scheduled to be held, the school was informed that the funding would not be provided. The principal of the school reached out to Rabbi Avi Schnall, Agudath Israel's New Jersey director, for assistance. Rabbi Schnall advocated on behalf of the school and the state reversed their decision and restored the funding for this educational program.
